THE CROWS OF PEARBLOSSOM by Aldous Huxley

US/UK Publisher: Abrams Books for Young Readers

THE CROWS OF PEARBLOSSOM is the only children’s story that Aldous Huxley wrote. It was given as a gift to his niece in 1944. In the tradition of AESOP’S FABLES, this is the charming story of Mr. and Mrs. Crow, who with Old Man Owl’s help, teach Mr. Snake a lesson. Although it can be read on many levels, this tart story shares a terrific message: Personal ingenuity and intelligence always triumph over brute strength.

A YA fantasy duology set in an alternate Tang Dynasty China, where a poor biracial girl with the ability to raise the dead gets caught up in the dangerous political games of the royal family.

Zilan dreams of becoming a royal alchemist, of providing for her family by making alchemical gold for the wealthy to eat in order to stay young forever. But for now, she's trapped in her impoverished village in southern China, practicing an illegal form of alchemy to keep food on the table – resurrecting the dead for a price. When Zilan finally has the chance to complete her imperial exams, she moves to the city where her reputation for raising the dead precedes her and the Crown Prince seeks out her help. The more Zilan succeeds in her alchemy, the more she gets caught in the dangerous political games of the royal family. There are monsters lurking within the palace walls, and it's only a matter of time before they—and secrets of Zilan's past—catch up with her.

Kylie Lee Baker is the author of YA duology, THE KEEPER OF NIGHT and THE EMPRESS OF TIME, as well as upcoming horror adult novel, BAT EATER.

Atia is a monster who feeds on fear. As the last of her kind, she hides in the shadows of the world to escape the wrath of the unpredictable Gods. Silas is a Herald, carrying messages and ferrying the dead as punishment for a past he can't remember. Stripped of his true name, he yearns to recover his identity.

Atia would never dream of allying with someone like him, but when she breaks a sacred law and the Gods send monsters to hunt her, Silas offers an irresistible deal: he'll help avenge her family and take on the Gods who now hunt her, if she helps him break his curse and restore his humanity. All they need to do is kill three powerful creatures: a vampire, a banshee, and one of the very Gods who destroyed both their lives. Only together can they finally rewrite their destinies.

DARK MAGIC AND SWORDPLAY
REMINICENT OF A YA GIDEON THE NINTH.

SET IN A WORLD WHERE THE CONTINENTS ARE ANCHORED TO THE BONES OF SEVEN GODS

It's been thousands of years since the seven gods lifted the continents into the air so humanity could thrive, chaining the lands down with their bones and turning them into Anchor. But Azul del Arroyo doesn't care about Anchor or the recent ban on mining it; she cares about being responsible for her sister's death, and getting her bones from the capital so she can bring her back to life. Again.

The Emissary of the Lord Death will do anything in his power to stop her, because gods-defying monstrosities like her shouldn't exist, and even less, the living dead she has the ability to create. On the run, Azul's fate becomes entwined with a Count who begrudgingly works for a child king, a Faceless Witch who transforms Anchor into dreams she can peddle, and a long-lost half-brother with a secret of his own. It's a time of enlightenment, rapiers, and scientific prowess, in a country with a Court coming out of Royal mourning and where Anchor has ceased to be something worth revered a long time ago yet nobody cares. But the gods do. Because the gods want their bones back.
